

Abstract

The invention relates to new pyridyl alkene and pyridyl alkene acid amides according to the general formula (I) as well as methods for their production, medicaments containing these compounds as well as their medical use, especially in the treatment of tumors or for immunosuppression.

(I)